

„Literature and Music“ – the subject of ICLM’s Annual Conference 2011 joins the two foci of our committee: ICLM, the International Committee for Literary and Composer Museums in ICOM. But much more, this conference combines this subject with the heart of Italian culture, and thus with an essential part of European and of world culture.

The long history of the interaction of literature and music got a new intensity in the 19th century as well by romantic literature as by the highlights of the opera. Reminding of Manzoni, Leopardi, and Verdi, opens the field of culture and of politics, as they were protagonists in the struggle for creating a public consciousness of Italia through literature, language and music, and were a part of the Risorgimento, aiming at the creation of an Italian national state which succeeded in 1861. It is an honour for ICLM that we were invited to come to Italy in the year of its 150 anniversary.

The Conference aims at getting a better understanding of the cultural practice of our members and partners, museums and other heritage institutions and of their reflections on their work for the memory of literature and music. Conference papers, concerts, and other cultural events may result in an ensemble of reflection, perception, and sensuousness.

ICLM is very pleased to cooperate once again with the Associazione nazionale Case della memoria and ICOM Italia and the new partners and supporters: Regione Marche, Provincia di Ancona, Comune di Chiaravalle, and Fondazione Chiaravalle Montessori.
